Chromatographic characterization of a new bioactive surface coating and its application in the bioseparation of human alpha-globin from blood. A poly(ethylene oxide)/poly(ethylene imine) (PEO/PEI) copolymer was synthesized by free radical copolymerization of 2-(methacryloyloxy)ethyl alpha-methacrylate hydrochloride (MA-PEO) with 1,2-bis(aminoethyl)oxazol (aminoethyl PEI) in phosphate-buffered saline using ammonium persulfate (APS) as the initiator and N,N,N',N'-tetramethylethylenediamine (TEMED) as the catalyst. A bifunctional ligand 4-(3-mercaptopropyl)morpholine (E-thiol) was synthesized and combined with the PEO/PEI copolymer via an amido-thiol reaction. E-Thiol was then coupled to CNBr-activated Sepharose 4B (CNBr-activated Sepharose) via two methods: the amido-thiol reaction (E-thiol-Sepharose) and the thiol-disulfide exchange reaction (E-S-Sepharose). After immobilization of E-thiol-Sepharose and E-S-Sepharose, the chromatographic behavior of human alpha-globin in normal and sickle hemoglobins was investigated. E-Thiol-Sepharose and E-S-Sepharose showed a better binding affinity for human alpha-globin and were used to purify the alpha-globin protein. A new bioactive surface coating that targets human alpha-globin was obtained and used to separate alpha-globin from serum samples. These results indicate that the biocatalyst E-S-Sepharose has the potential for use in the clinical laboratory to diagnose alpha-thalassemia.
Q: Is it possible to make JQuery validation plugin work in IE8+? I have many forms on my website, and I used almost JQuery Validation Plugin, but the problem is I have so many forms in my website. This plugin doesn't work in IE 8+ browsers, when I press submit button after filling data in fields that I need to validate, it works fine, but f678ea9f9e
